“There is no place like home.” This is Larry Sanders’ credo. Born and raised in Houston, no one knows the town like this straight-shooting professional. Larry has not only helped thousands of clients find their homes in the greater Houston area but has made a personal mark on this Texas landscape through his own real estate ventures.

He purchased his first property at the age of 18 and has been buying and selling ever since. In the following 39 years, Larry has touched every aspect of the real estate industry—from building to residential resale, land development to relocation, rental properties to foreclosures. Clients and business associates describe his knowledge base as “vast.” He intuitively categorizes listings, buyers, sellers and investment opportunities in his mind like a detailed real estate map. A connector in every sense of the word, he can quickly find a first time buyer his dream home or help a seasoned investor diversify her portfolio.

Larry transitioned his wealth of experience to the professional representative side when he earned his real estate license in 1998. The unique combination of private investor and savvy Realtor makes Larry a good person to have in your corner.

Larry prides himself on educating his clients on every aspect of the process—from searching for the right property to keeping extra dollars in your pocket when choosing your lender. “In a week, I might be guiding a young lady through the purchase of her first home and then turn around to help a long-time client transition one of his properties into a rental,” explained Larry. No matter the situation, he has the experience and industry prowess to steer his clients into the most advantageous situation possible.

Despite his success, the most powerful aspect of Larry Sanders is his guiding philosophy. A 32nd Master Mason and a member of the Knights’ Templar, Larry is absolutely passionate about giving back. In addition to the civic activities of the lodge, he has long been involved with the Houston Livestock Show, helping to raise scholarship money for deserving students and is a major contributor and supporter of the Children’s Miracle Network.

With a heart as big as his home state, Larry builds community through his profession and philanthropy. There is no such thing as ‘just another day at the office,’ because every business deal is another opportunity to care for the city he calls home.

More than an agent, Larry is a guide to your brightest future.
